Alethea Jackson, a 15- year veteran of the Leon County Tax Collector's Office has been named the agency's new Chief Deputy of Property Tax administration and Bridget Kittrell, a 18-year veteran the new Chief Deputy of Finance.

Jackson and Kittrell will replace Hanna Henderson and Rebecca Hempstead who retired last month after a combined total of 56 years with the agency.

Both ladies started in entry level positions working as customer service representatives and worked their way up to the Chief Deputy positions.

Maloy said she was pleased with the promotions. "I have always believed in promoting from within whenever possible. Both ladies have exceptional track records with the agency and will make excellent additions to the management team."
